Common Threads Family Resource Center

Common Threads provides support to children with autism, as well as to their families, through various means. This center embraces the special needs of each individual child and prides itself in teaching and working from a strength-based approach. The staff is committed to supporting children, and recognizes that challenging behaviors are often a result of communication difficulties and sensory needs. Common Thread's mission is to enhance the development of children with autism spectrum disorders and to provide their families with support and direction.
